

How We Can Help

Tel-Instrument provides comprehensive technical support for current and legacy avionics test equipment. Our experienced support team can assist with product operation, troubleshooting, software revisions, calibration services, warranty questions, repair coordination, and general technical inquiries.

Please complete the Technical Support Request below. Providing detailed information about your equipment and the issue you're experiencing will help us respond more efficiently. A confirmation email will be sent upon successful submission, and a Product Support representative will contact you as soon as possible.
